“A very, very enjoyable tournament”

In June 2017, Georgia hosted U20 Rugby World Cup. Young Springboks also participated in the tournament. And audience has witnessed a memorable rugby clash between Georgian Lelos and South African Springboks.

“The curtain may have come down on the World Rugby U20 Championship 2017 in Georgia, but for TV commentator Simon Ward there was lots of moments to savour from all 12 teams.”

“Music and Ancient History in the Caucasus”

“The idea was to take a trip with my 22-year-old daughter, Liza, an adventure worthy of a college graduation present. We settled on a 10-day journey through the small Caucasus country of Georgia, with a swing through neighboring Turkey, in search of the long-lost kingdom of Tao.

It sounded vaguely Chinese and the scenery did look at times like Chinese scroll paintings: rocky, pine-covered mountains cut through by waterfalls, fast-moving rivers and vast upland plateaus with alternating patches of snow and wildflowers.”

“ON THE RISE: WHY GEORGIA IS ONE OF THE MOST CREATIVE PLACES ON THE PLANET.”

“Remember that lovely “100% Real Virtual Reality” case for Old Irish from Georgia? What some might think is a one hit wonder from a distant place on our planet is just the tip of the iceberg – there is much more to find in Georgia. And more to come as well. The story of creative success in Georgian advertising begins in 2011 at Eurobest. It was the first time that an agency from this small country won gold at an international advertising festival. It was a campaign for TBC Bank, and the agency behind it was a small independent shop called Windfor’s.”
